OK all you unquenchable bookworms, here's a chance to give aid to a friend in need and get your vote counted as well.

Announcing...(drum roll, please)

A NET-WIDE MILTI-BOOK SERIES SURVEY

Background- In recent months, I've become a great fan of series books (you know the type, two or more books with the same set of characters and one plotline running through it all.) So, now with my appetite whetted, I appeal to the greatest of all sources, the net, to aid in my search for more and better reading.

Groundrules- I'm mainly interested in science-fiction and fantasy genre so detective and mystery novels will have to wait for some other interested party, although science-fiction detective and mystery will be appreciated. Send me author, series name, number of books, and book titles (if available).

I will compile a canonical list of all replies and post it to the net sometime in late February or early March.

Disclaimer- Yes, I'm primarily doing this for my own enjoyment, I'm greedy.

My netaddress is below, so don't delay (I'm getting bored with no books to read).
