Hello everyone,

This is being posted as a public service to the Atari 8-bit and ST enthusiast communities.

Sean Robinson, a known scammer, con artist, liar, and thief is once again making the rounds of the classic arcade, computer, and console communities. Yes, this is the same Sean Robinson who was involved with the founding of the Commodore Computer Club USA (https://www.commodorecomputerclub.com/). He is mostly active in the Pacific Northwest these days, though is accomplished at screwing people over in online transactions.

Sean has spent time in jail in California for felony defrauding of arcade game collectors. For more information regarding that (and a copy of the court documents from before Sean had the conviction expunged from his record), please visit the following link:

For a more up-to-date copy of the court documents from after the expungement took place as well as additional info regarding his more recent scamming activity:

And, for more juiciness regarding his involvement with the Coleco Chameleon and how he swindled money out of that debacle:

You may be tempted to think that he's paid his debt to society and changed his ways. Don't be. Sean is pathologically incapable of behaving with honesty, integrity, or any sort of moral or ethical sense when it comes to having even a shred of decency in financial dealings. He's been doing this for over 20 years at this point, and time and time again we've seen how his behavior simply will not change.

Additionally, if you are aware of Sean Robinson being involved with (or is becoming involved with) a club, event, or other organization, please make the appropriate person(s) aware of his past.

Please help spread the word about this person. The sooner he is completely ostracized from any community he may be seeking to harm the better-off we'll all be.

Thank you,

The Society for Preventing Sean Robinson from Ever Escaping His Past.
