

---

Subject: Re: The KTMA MST3K episodes get potty mouthed with four letter words that the cable episodes didn't

Posted by Anonymous on Tue, 07 Jan 2020 22:06:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Originally posted by: eichler2

On Tue, 7 Jan 2020 00:48:28 -0800, weary flake <wearyflake@gmail.com> wrote:

> On 2020-01-07 02:13:02 +0000, weary flake said:

>

>> On 2020-01-06 12:20:05 +0000, Bice said:

>>

>>> On Sun, 5 Jan 2020 01:43:55 -0800, weary flake <wearyflake@gmail.com>

>>> wrote:

>>>

>>>> The 1980's broadcast KTMA MST3K episodes get potty-mouthed that >>>> the more familiar later cable episodes don't. Crude d--- jokes >>>> in KTMA episode 5 Gamera, if I recall correctly, and other episodes >>>> have things like the word s--- muted by the TV broadcast but then >>>> said in the clear by the bots in Hangar 18. There's also the mods >>>> and bots repeating a riff on the credit name "Butkus" and said in >>>> a manner that evokes "b--- kiss" or "f--- this" in SuperDome.

>>>> There's probably other dirty language that I haven't seen yet.

>>>

>>>

>>> I'm pretty sure it was a KTMA episode where one of the bots said >>> something about Deep Woods Off, and Joel replied "When you're deep in >>> the woods, you can't beat off". Stupid, but it made me laugh.

>>

>> That sounds familiar, was that in the KTMA of Year Of The Apes?

>

> I meant Time Of The Apes

No idea. It's been decades since I've watched any of the KTMA episodes.

Did anyone ever unearth the first few, or are they still the stuff of legends?

-- Bob

---