

---

Subject: Robots

Posted by Anonymous on Sun, 01 Mar 2020 02:55:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Originally posted by: Bobbie Sellers

Hi Readers and Typers

Watching TV today in between chores and making Flash Drives for the LUG and one of the PBS shows featured a new Japanese robot in the form of Atomu aka Astroboy. He has facial recognition and can pull down further information from the Cloud to aid the built in AI. So far it is confined to tabletop use as a communications device with a built in video screen and its own voice and hearing.

It can show old shows on its minute video screen.

Thank heaven no built-in jets.(yet)

This was the last segment of a show that featured mechanical power assistance for leg movement for recuperative exercise. Battery powered of course. Then a device that converts a regular wheelchair to a powered chair like a mobility scooter.

bliss

--

bliss dash SF 4 ever at dslextrreme dot com

---