I'm pretty sure the reason this one got done the way it did is because I needed to get it off the Dibs List regardless of having done something with it, so it's not my best work ever, and I probably would have been better off just letting it go, but since I was younger and considerably more foolish than I am now, this is what we wound up with.

Also posted to my personal blog (<https://jmshearersthoughts.blogspot.com/>) with a little more history and whatnot concerning this bit.
