

---

Subject: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Your Name on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 01:05:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already ruined by Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(

From ComingSoon.net ...

Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot for Universal

-----
Jay Basu (The Girl in the Spider's Web, Charlie's Angels, Labyrinth) has come on board Universal's Battlestar Galactica reboot to pen the script for the reimaging of the television series created by Glen Larson, The Wrap has confirmed. Lisa Joy wrote an earlier draft of the script.

Francis Lawrence (The Hunger Games franchise, Red Sparrow) is directing the project. Dylan Clark (Oblivion) will produce for his Dylan Clark productions alongside Michael De Luca Productions (Social Network). Scott Stuber (Identity Thief) will executive produce. Jay Polidoro and Lexi Barta will oversee the project for Universal, with Brian Williams overseeing for Dylan Clark Productions. Elishia Holmes will oversee for Michael De Luca Productions.

Battlestar Galactica began with the 1978 television series, which chronicled the adventures of space faring vessel centuries in the future. At the end of a millenia-long conflict with a robotic race known as the Cylons, the last surviving warship, the Galactica, leads a convoy of hundreds of human vessels in search of a mythic planet called Earth.

The first Battlestar Galactica series was followed by a brief sequel/spinoff series, Galactica: 1980, two years later. The franchise is arguably best known today, however, as a rebooted television version that premiered in 2004. That series, created by Ronald D. Moore and David Eick, was followed by a short lived prequel series, Caprica, in 2010 and a webseries, Blood & Chrome, in 2012. It is believed that the new Battlestar Galactica movie, which is being produced by Bluegrass Films, will again reboot the franchise.

< <https://www.comingsoon.net/movies/news/1020251-jay-basu-to-write-battlestar-galactica-reboot-for-universal> >

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Anonymous on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 02:13:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Originally posted by: Ninapenda Jibini

Your Name <YourName@YourISP.com> wrote in news:pvc5h3$hsp$1@gioia.aioe.org:

>
> Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already > ruined by Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(
>
The remake was better than the original in every way except one
(unless your favorite food is cheese): It wasn't Battlestar Galactica.

--
Terry Austin

"Terry Austin: like the polio vaccine, only with more asshole."
-- David Bilek

Jesus forgives sinners, not criminals.

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by BTR1701 on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 02:18:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Your Name <YourName@YourISP.com> wrote:

>
> Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already ruined by > Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(
>
>
> From ComingSoon.net ...
>
> Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot for Universal
> -----
> Jay Basu (The Girl in the Spider's Web, Charlie's Angels, Labyrinth) > has come on board Universal's Battlestar Galactica reboot to pen the > script for the reimaging of the television series created by Glen > Larson, The Wrap has confirmed. Lisa Joy wrote an earlier draft of > the script.

A re-reboot? Sheesh...

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Dimensional Traveler on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 03:40:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On 12/18/2018 5:05 PM, Your Name wrote:

>
> Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already ruined by > Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(
>
>
> From ComingSoon.net ...
>
> Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot for Universal
> -----
> Jay Basu (The Girl in the Spider's Web, Charlie's Angels, Labyrinth)

Those credits do not instill confidence in this.

--

Inquiring minds want to know while minds with a self-preservation instinct are running screaming.

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Your Name on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 05:35:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On 2018-12-19 03:40:59 +0000, Dimensional Traveler said:

> On 12/18/2018 5:05 PM, Your Name wrote:
>>
>> Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already ruined by >> Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(
>>
>>
>> From ComingSoon.net ...
>>
>> Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot for Universal
>> -----
>> Jay Basu (The Girl in the Spider's Web, Charlie's Angels, Labyrinth)
>
> Those credits do not instill confidence in this.

I was out at the word "reboot". :-\

If these lazy asses can't come up with their own ideas, they shouldn't be in Hollyweird at all.

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Dimensional Traveler on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 16:28:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On 12/18/2018 9:35 PM, Your Name wrote:

> On 2018-12-19 03:40:59 +0000, Dimensional Traveler said:

>> On 12/18/2018 5:05 PM, Your Name wrote:

>>>

>>> Another idiotic and popintless reboot for a franchise already ruined by

>>> Moore-Ron's ill-fitting mess. :-(

>>>

>>>

>>> From ComingSoon.net ...

>>>

>>> Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot for Universal

>>> -----

>>> Jay Basu (The Girl in the Spider's Web, Charlie's Angels, Labyrinth)

>>

>> Those credits do not instill confidence in this.

>

> I was out at the word "reboot". :-\

>

> If these lazy asses can't come up with their own ideas, they shouldn't > be in Hollyweird at all.

>

Hollywood doesn't like original ideas. They are risky. They might not sell and there's a risk of being sued if the idea wasn't original enough. So Hollywood runs the people who do original out of town.

--

Inquiring minds want to know while minds with a self-preservation instinct are running screaming.

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Anonymous on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 21:23:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Originally posted by: Kade Green

Dimensional Traveler <dtravel@sonic.net> wrote:

> Hollywood doesn't like original ideas. They are risky. They might not > sell and there's a risk of being sued if the idea wasn't original > enough. So Hollywood runs the people who do original out of town.

Couldn't we at least get hybrids like "Criminal Minds meets X-Files"?
(There's actually an anthology book series that does that, though it's closer to "Criminal Minds does Alphas". It's called Shadow Unit, with Emma Bull and Elizabeth Bear as editors. A special bureau of the FBI, some of whose members have psi powers, secretly investigates criminals with psi powers. The series is very clearly structured as television episodes.)

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Anonymous on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 22:10:49 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Originally posted by: Jibini Kula Tumbili Kujisalimisha

Dimensional Traveler <dtravel@sonic.net> wrote in news:pveicl$og9$2@dont-email.me:

> On 12/19/2018 1:23 PM, Kade Green wrote:
>> Dimensional Traveler <dtravel@sonic.net> wrote:
>>> Hollywood doesn't like original ideas. They are risky. They >>> might not sell and there's a risk of being sued if the idea >>> wasn't original enough. So Hollywood runs the people who do >>> original out of town.
>>
>> Couldn't we at least get hybrids like "Criminal Minds meets >> X-Files"? (There's actually an anthology book series that does >> that, though it's closer to "Criminal Minds does Alphas". It's >> called Shadow Unit, with Emma Bull and Elizabeth Bear as >> editors. A special bureau of the FBI, some of whose members >> have psi powers, secretly investigates criminals with psi >> powers. The series is very clearly structured as television >> episodes.)
>>
> That would be fine as you really don't want to know how many TV > series and theatrical movies are pitched as "X meets Y with some > Z thrown in".
>
> You pitch what you think the studio idiots will buy. (Especially if > you're a no-talent hack, too.)

--
Terry Austin

Vacation photos from Iceland:
<https://plus.google.com/u/0/collection/QaXQkB>

"Terry Austin: like the polio vaccine, only with more asshole."
-- David Bilek

Jesus forgives sinners, not criminals.

---

---

Subject: Re: [NEWS] Jay Basu to write Battlestar Galactica reboot
Posted by Dimensional Traveler on Wed, 19 Dec 2018 22:57:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On 12/19/2018 1:23 PM, Kade Green wrote:

> Dimensional Traveler <dtravel@sonic.net> wrote:

>> Hollywood doesn't like original ideas. They are risky. They might not >> sell and there's a risk of being sued if the idea wasn't original >> enough. So Hollywood runs the people who do original out of town.

>

> Couldn't we at least get hybrids like "Criminal Minds meets X-Files"?

> (There's actually an anthology book series that does that, though it's

> closer to "Criminal Minds does Alphas". It's called Shadow Unit, with

> Emma Bull and Elizabeth Bear as editors. A special bureau of the FBI, > some of whose members have psi powers, secretly investigates > criminals with psi powers. The series is very clearly structured as > television episodes.)

>

That would be fine as you really don't want to know how many TV series and theatrical movies are pitched as "X meets Y with some Z thrown in".

--

Inquiring minds want to know while minds with a self-preservation instinct are running screaming.

---