So, I'm going to order a new power supply before doing anything. But if it's a PLA issue, I would be happy to send the device to someone to fix it if the price is fair. Or barter, possibly, for something in exchange for repair services.

I'm collecting software and trying to get my hands on the peripherals. In the meantime i'm learning basic and assembly on a mini.

I have never soldered before and I'm afraid I'll mess things up.
