
Subject: RGB to HDMI

Posted by Anonymous on Sun, 24 Jan 2021 05:20:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Originally posted by: Netsurge

For those of you who are looking for a cheap and easy way to get pixel perfect HDMI from your socketed Denise/Super Denise Amiga by using a Pi Zero, we have the needed Pi zero hat in stock over at retrorewind.ca.

This little board, when coupled with a Raspberry Pi Zero, can extract the digital video signal to produce an extremely low latency (few milliseconds) perfect HDMI signal.

Currently it only supports OCS/ECS Amigas.

--

frank // netsurge

disksh0p!bbs % bbs.diskshop.ca % mystic goodness

SciNet ftn hq % <https://scinet-ftn.org>
