Remember how I said "The Scar" was the longest fic I'd ever soloed? Well disregard that. THIS is the longest - and I skipped a chapter.

This is a story that was offered up to me by the author, one Usagi Hoshiko, whom I've tackled twice before ("Life's Surprises" and "New Beginnings"). It's another multiverse crossover presumably set in the same universe as her other two offerings. This time the focus is Sailor Moon and her crew (minus Saturn, who is never mentioned at all, and Luna, Artemis and Diana where it's never explained why they didn't come along.) who get invited to attend Hogwarts for a year (Nope, that's not explained either). After obligatory cross-cultural hijinks (in which the Harry Potter crew is basically reduced to supporting characters), the monster of the week shows up (sort of), smites a few students (including Colin Creevey, who seems to be the fandom's designated redshirt) and is generally MUHAHAHAHA evil for no hinted at reason (other than that's what "youma" do when Sailor Moon is around, I suppose). Eventually, the Ronin Warriors (or the Samurai Troopers as our little otaku insists on calling them) and Gohan of Dragonball Z are called in. And stuff kind of happens. (For certain values of "happens.")

Folks this is a fic that gives more attention to Quidditch than to the battles against the Big Bad.

For those curious about the original, untouched fic:

Anyway, on with the disclaimers:

Cinematic Titanic is the property of and are used without permission.
"Harry Potter and the Senshi's Circle" is the property of Usagi Hoshiko and is used with permission.

WARNING: The following fic contains references to and lines ripped off from: Monty Python, "Soap," "The Tyger", "Perfect Strangers," "Ranma 1/2," "To Catch a Predator," "Jeopardy!," DeBarge, Abbot and Costello, "Hedwig and the Angry Inch," "Seinfeld," "Yogi's Ark," "Cheers," "Hercules Unchained," Discworld, Final Fantasy, "Gilligan's Island," "The Shadow," "Game of Thrones/A Song of Ice and Fire," "Little Shop of Horrors", "Lolita," "Futurama," "The Badger Song," "Zork," "Atop The Fourth Wall," Joe Quesada, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind," Run DMC, "Last Chance To Live," "The Simpsons," "The Mickey Mouse Club," "The Superfriends," and "South Park."

And now, on with the story!

Oh! Oh, goodness, I'm sorry to notice so belatedly but thank you for writing and posting it. I didn't realize there were fresh MiSTings to enjoy. Thank you.

Couldn't find anything relevant from the 1982 Saturday morning cartoon _Meatballs and Spaghetti_, huh?
