Isn't Might and Magic III as rare as any of those? I really wanted that one= but watched it go for over $400 on ebay, and haven't seen it anywhere sinc= e. Even in that auction, the seller claimed he had not seen an auction for = it in three years.

Hey List,

Quick question. Did Turbo Technologies start using different plastic "hang tags" (clear plastic tags for hanging games on pegs at stores) around '92-'93? This would be for games such as Yo Bro', Soldier Blade, Dead Moon, that era. I was going through my collection tonight and noticed a difference between the peg tags on the earlier games and the later games. I had noticed this before, but never really thought about it.

Anybody have any info or ideas?

Regards,
Mark

This brings up a good point. I've been trying to track down a copy of Godzilla for a while now and it never seems to pop up on ebay. Anyone know what the going rate is for Godzilla?
And if anyone has a copy of Godzilla, Magical Chase or Dynastic Hero complete and for sale, drop me a line
Alex

--- Turbo List Information -----

Have questions about the Turbo systems? Need a list of resources? Then check out the Turbo Compendium -- your resource guide to turbo information, <http://www.runet.edu/~cguirrer/turbo1.html> or issue the command "get turbo.compendium" to the turbo list server (sans quotes)

Sigh.. Wonder Boy Monster World is one of my favorite series of all time. I nearly cried when I saw the English Dynastic Hero sell for $400.. Oh well I have the Japanese one. It seems the Turbo and PC-Engine both have a ridiculous amount of over $100 games and it seems I really want a good number of them.

I'm currently hunting down Madou Monogatari even though I don't have an Arcade Card.
