hey List, a student of mine here in tokyo and i were talking in class theo the day about video games and he was stunned to learn that i not only knew what the GT (turbo express) was but that i had one. he , as most people here in japan, don't know that it was released in the states. he equally stunned me by having his GT with tv tuner in his car with him at all times. he doesn't use it while he's driving of course to play games but he says it's great for listening to the TV. i forgot that there was a cigarette lighter adaptor for this system. now..

i am desperately looking for (and would you believe i can't find?) a turbo express carrying case. does anyone know where i can find them? tzd, at last check, didn't have them and i can't believe i haven't found one here in japan. any help would be appreciated. thanks, george

Subject: TurboDuo screws

Hi,

I have a Duo that doesn't have any screws to hold the casing together. Does anybody know what size the screws are so I can keep this thing held together? I'm not talking about the security bits, I just want normal screws.
Thanks!

Thanks for the cool story. :) I wish the TV-tuner would work here in Europe.=20

As for a good bag for your GT/TE, I bought a nice camera type bag from Australian company Crumpler. Check out this link:

I think it's this one, but it might be a slightly different type (a tad bigger perhaps), it's hard to tell from that photograph. It's extremely well padded and there's a bit of room for a couple of HuCards even. It fits perfectly. I would advise to have a look at them in a store and check them out. Let us know what you decide on. (^_^)
