What's wrong with advertise the information about the program on the ne?
If somebody like me want that kind of program badly, he probably need that right away and save time to seek information. Nobody will blame the author because he advertise some product on the net which cannot easily be found everywhere else.

FLAME ON*
What's wrong is that usenet is connected to MILNET and the rules of the latter are such that advertising is VERBOTTEN!
FLAME OFF###
For myself, i wouldn't care either way. But, i would definitely hate to see the service go away, especially over something that simple. der
