I've watched both of them now. Will there be new anime episodes in either of these two series? "Certain Magical Index" seemed to close at a plot-wise reasonable place. "Certain Scientific Railgun" seems like it would have more episodes to bring it to a concurrent ending in step with that of "magical index".

There are 17 volumes to the manga for Index, so lots of material, but the anime ended 5 years ago and I have not seen any announcements for a new series. If you can find the Railgun movie that is pretty good too.

Thanks. FWIW, the anime series of both of them are available for viewing at Crunchyroll, which is where I watched them. IIRC, each series consisted of 24 episodes (may have been more). Not able to pin why it appealed to me, but the story lines were enjoyable to watch unfold.
