...:[Uh.. what?]..

We're an -active- BBS... you know, where people actually call and post? Some even play games! Some upload and download files! It's a wonderful thing.

It's a BBS running Centipede on a Commodore 128D with message bases dedicated to old computer goodness.

Also:

- [+] 25,000+ files for the Commodore 64, Vic-20, 128, Plus/4 (NTSC/PAL), CP/M
- [+] Constantly expanding MOD files area
- [+] Large (100s of disk images) of GEOS/Wheels files
- [+] 1000s of NTSC Plus/4 files with more being converted all the time.
- [+] Over 120 file areas so far, still adding more
- [+] 80+ online games (Empire, Nuke'Em, tons more)
- [+] Lots of message bases with posts from some very interesting people.
- [+] Retro Usenet - Currently posts from 1989
- [+] A real Usenet feed. A first on a Commodore 128.

It's okay! We're not a Commodore only board. Heck, many of our callers are on Atari STs, Amigas, Apples, TI99s and more.

You don't even need to use a retrocomputer! Just hit the website for a telnet client to see what it's about.

Runs PETSCII, ANSI, ASCII, 40 columns, 80 columns so connect with whatever you want.

...:[You're seriously using a Commodore 128?]..

Running on a Commodore 128D w/1MB of RAM.

Ports open at 38,400 so it flies. Ever seen an 8-bit transfer at 38.4K? Holy crap.

This is done with the magic of a Swiftlink RS232 adapter.

Punter, Multipunter, Ymodem, Xmodem xfers. Find one you like.

4GB CMD SCSI drive running off a Compact Flash card using a SCSI to CF adapter. Fast. For 8-bit.
