
Subject: MiSTed: The Jovian Jest [0 / 1]
Posted by nebusj on Sun, 31 Dec 2017 05:08:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

MiSTing is an art not yet lost! Actually, for all I know, it's thriving, what with the new series and all to riff on. But I haven't seen the new series yet and if there's people doing whole new MiSTings and finding the Stephen Ratliffs of the 2010s and all I haven't heard and I probably wouldn't have the time to check them out anyway. I'd still like to know.

Nevertheless I don't want to lose entirely the tradition of writing MiSTings and posting them to Usenet. So here, based on a short story that saw print in the 1930 _Astounding Stories of Super-Science_, is Lilith Lorraine's 'The Jovian Jest'.

--

Joseph Nebus

Math: Wronski's Formula for Pi: A First Limit <https://wp.me/p1RYhY-1jS>

Humor: Top Ten Events of 2017 <https://wp.me/p37lb5-1V8>

-----+-----
