For those in the USA stupid enough to watch it, SyFy currently has Moore-Ron's awful so-called "Battlestar Galactica" garbage streamable for free:

It includes all four season, the two movies ('The Plan' and 'Razor'), and the two-part mini-series.

Those outside the US can try using using a VPN or proxy server.

It's also been added to Comet TV's weekday evening lineup.

Every American should want President Trump and his administration to handle the coronavirus epidemic effectively and successfully. Those who seem eager to see the president fail and to call every administration misstep a fiasco risk letting their partisanship blind them to the demands not only of civic responsibility but of basic decency.

Many other network streaming services are now also jumping on the bandwagon, including HBO and AMC, as well as extended free trials being offered at other streaming sites.
