Subject: the idea of the portable Duo

ok I know this topic has popped up before, and I remember getting some responses from people here before, but I've finally decided that I'm going to do this. My question to you folks is, does anyone have a spare Duo that I can use, for a reasonable price. All I ask is that it be working. It doesn't matter if it has paint spilled on it or if there's a huge crack in the case or part of the plastic case is broken. As long as the Duo itself works I'm interested. I'm HOPING (even if it is futilely), to pay somewhere in the $30-$80. Of course if anyone has one they would care to "donate" to the cause, I'm more than open to that too. The main reason I'm asking to buy one first is because it may require some permanent modification to the board to make this idea work. Of course, if anyone is interest in collaboration on this, I live in Ohio, and would welcome input and help.
