
Subject: Re: LucasFilms to become Lucas Housing Authority ?

Posted by Duggy on Tue, 15 May 2012 00:49:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

From Newsgroup: rec.arts.sf.starwars.misc

On May 15, 3:03 am, thinbluemime wrote:

> George Lucas Proposes Affordable Housing

> By Donna Kimura<http://www.housingfinance.com/news/ahf/051412-ahf-Geor> > ge-Lucas-Propos...<http://news.yahoo.com/blogs/sideshow/george-lucas-proposes-building-a...>

>

> Filmmaker George Lucas has pulled the plug on building a new film studio > and floated another option for the Northern California site—affordable > housing.

>

> After years of trying to develop a new facility in Marin County, Lucas > recently dropped his application to build on a property known as Grady

> Ranch, citing a long battle with neighbors.

>

> “The level of bitterness and anger expressed by the homeowners in Lucas

> Valley has convinced us that, even if we were to spend more time and > acquire the necessary approvals, we would not be able to maintain a > constructive relationship with our neighbors,” said a letter announcing > his plans.

>

> But, that’s not the end of the story. Lucas, the man behind “Star Wars,” > has unveiled part two.

>

> “We hope we will be able to find a developer who will be interested in > low-income housing since it is scarce in Marin,” said the letter. “If > everyone feels that housing is less impactful on the land then we are > hoping that people who need it the most will benefit.”

>

> While some have seen the move as a shot at the protesting neighbors, the > idea has advanced a step further.

>

> The Marin Community Foundation has stepped in to work with Lucasfilm to > explore options to develop the site with affordable housing.

>

> “We are thrilled that George Lucas is seeing this as an opportunity to > address one of the most critical issues in Marin County—making it possible > for a broad range of individuals and families to afford to live in Marin,” > said Thomas Peters, president and CEO of the Foundation. “In many > instances, this is housing for people who work in the county but can’t > afford to live here and for people who grew up here but who now cannot > afford safe, secure housing in their home county. And we have always paid > particular attention to the need for affordable housing by the county’s > expanding senior population.”

>
> The Foundation's work has included providing loans and grants to nonprofit > housing developers.
>
> Marin County is one of the most expensive housing markets in the nation.
> The median price for an existing single-family home was $672,620 in March > compared with the statewide median of $291,080.
>
> It is also one of the most expensive markets to rent an apartment. The > "housing wage," an estimate of the full-time hourly wage a household must > earn in order to afford a decent two-bedroom apartment at fair market rent > while spending no more than 30 percent of income on housing costs, is a > soaring $36.63 in the county, according to the "Out of Reach" report from > the National Low Income Housing Coalition.
>
> In comparison, the state housing wage is lower but still a high $26.02, > meaning a minimum-wage earner would have to work 130 hours per week to > afford a decent two-bedroom apartment at fair market rent.
>
> It looks like the Foundation and Lucasfilm will now move toward working > with affordable housing developers. Perhaps, the force will be behind them > in developing the property.

Month old news.

===

= DUG.

===

--- Synchronet 3.13a-Win32 NewsLink 1.83
