I've been watching the serials TCM runs Saturday mornings lately, and boy, the comment that ``he looks more disappointed than shot" really comes in handy for describing the acting when one or more of the sacrificial characters is to be dispatched.

Gunslinger-with-a-gut-shot: (Grabs stomach in feigned agony) "You... will... always... haaavvve... a place in the credits scrolls in my heart."

And on that note, a superbly done gunslinger video-syncing with a song by Arcade Fire.

<http://jtylerhelms.com> (Unofficial) - WARNING: This will potentially spoil the end of the movie if you haven't seen it - music video for the song with edited clips from Sergio Leone's "Once Upon a Time in the West".

Ooh, is that from _Gunslinger_? ... I guess it must be, but I'm never as sure about these things as friends think I should be.

You know, somehow I've never actually seen 'Once Upon A Time
In The West', although I can't think of any good reason not to have.
For all my MST3k-fueled prentions to a broad cultural literacy I can be surprisingly ignorant of stuff, and their riffs can make that stand out.

Oh, it's one of my favorite films! And any MSTie will certainly appreciate the opening scene, where JACK ELAM battles a PESKY FLY!

-Doug Elrod (dre1@cornell.edu) :-)

P.S. But it's one of those films that REALLY needs to be seen on a big screen!
