
Subject: [NEWS] LucasFilm: Star Wars Detours
Posted by YourName on Sat, 25 Aug 2012 01:54:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

From ComingSoon.net ...

Check Out the Trailer and Three Clips From Star Wars Detours

Rumored for quite some time, Lucasfilm Ltd. has finally revealed their new, comedic take on the Star Wars franchise in the form of "Star Wars Detours," a television series from "Robot Chicken" creators Seth Green and Matt Senreich and director Todd Grimes. There's no official word yet on when the series will premiere or exactly what format it will take, but you can check out the trailer and three clips beneath the official description.

"Star Wars Detours" is an animated comedy that explores what daily life is like in a galaxy far, far away. There are no Empires striking back or attacking clones here. Instead, "Star Wars Detours" focuses on the

... which, to be fair, do frequently involve famous bounty hunters, crazed Ewoks, and even a Dark Lord of the Sith.

Welcome to "Star Wars: Detours": the other side of the stars, between the wars.

Flash video clips at <http://www.comingsoon.net/news/tvnews.php?id=94046>
